March 2018

OUR VISION

We will become a dynamic and nurturing religious community that celebrates our human diversity, supports lifelong spiritual growth, and acts for compassion and justice in the larger community.

A Sign of Good Faith at CUUC

You might have noticed a new sign out on Parker Road just below our church's sign a yellow banner proclaiming that "Black Lives Matter."

Why now? Recently we hosted long time member Dotty Storer, visiting from Missouri, who spoke to us about the actions she and her church had taken in support of their local community and the Black Lives Matter movement. The Church Chats session afterwards was a well-attended, lively discussion of actions we could take here at Community Church and a call to reinvigorate our social justice activities. A Black Lives Matter sign visible from the road was chief among them. With approval from the Board of Trustees, the Social Action Committee and our Facilities Chair Tom Brikowski worked together to design and place the banner.

Why Black Lives Matter? Unitarian Universalists uphold and affirm the inherent worth and dignity of every individual. Even so, many longstanding institutions, policies, and power structures in our nation were built and are maintained in a manner that treats Black lives as less than. We need to accept and confront the reality that white supremacy is not just an ideology held by fringe groups, but the framework holding up much of the inequality and injustice in the world today. We here today may not have directly built it, but we benefit from it, and it is part of our social justice work to help dismantle it.

A visit to the Black Lives Matter website* to learn more about their mission reveals how closely their vision aligns with Unitarian Universalist principles. You will find a message of inclusion for all, a call to strive for justice and peace, to be loving and uplifting to one another. To recognize the interconnectedness of communities and identities in their struggles, and the need to hear and help each other, as we work for common goals. Sounds familiar, doesn't it? Our common interdependence calls us to learn from each other and work together.

So what else could we, or should we do? The options are many and the opportunities ever present. Some ideas that were shared at Church Chats included: Attend rallies and public events that call for and uphold racial justice and equality. Celebrate, promote, and share the voices and works of artists,

Patrick's Ponderings

Dearest Beloveds, this is the letter which I mailed to all members and friends of Community UU Church, and which I read from the pulpit at the end of worship on Sunday, February 11, 2018.

Dear Members and Friends of Community Unitarian Universalist Church of Plano

It is with a profound mix of sorrow, gratitude and hope that I announce my resignation as your Called Minister of the Community Unitarian Universalist Church of Plano, as of July 31st, 2018. After nearly eleven years of service to this fine congregation, I realize that my time serving with you as your Called Minister has come to an end. I feel that we have accomplished much together, however it is time for a renewal of our respective ministries in service of our UU Faith.

My wife, the Rev. Jennifer Innis, who serves currently as the Interim Director of Religious Education for Community UU Church, completes her contract on July 31st, 2018, also. Consequently, Jennifer and I are presently in the midst of our Unitarian Universalist Association's Ministerial Search process. At this point in our process, no specific ministries are yet determined. We decided to announce my resignation this early in the search process, so that the congregation can engage with the important issues of your ministerial and religious educator transitions during the upcoming stewardship drive. This also allows the congregation more notice to initiate the interim/consulting ministry process with our Association's Transitions Office. Interim ministers generally begin their duties on August 1st of a given year.

Leaving here has been a difficult decision for me to make because of the strong ties I have with our congregation and personally to my larger family in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area. Deep grief rises up in me as I think of leaving this congregation which supported Jennifer and me as we started our own family. Your many kindnesses will never be forgotten, and your wisdoms will be cherished always. I will miss you and this place which I have called my home longer than anywhere else in my life, to date.

Yet, I am heartened by the possibility of exploring new ministries with Jennifer, each of us and together; deepening our call to our ministry, discovering where we might next be of best service to our Unitarian Universalist faith. In turn, I believe that the Community UU Church of Plano and UUism in North Texas are at crucial cross roads, and will benefit from the interim and/or consulting ministry process and a renewed ministerial leadership.

Our remaining ministries together now consist of saying goodbye and there will be many opportunities to do so. I will provide my service to this congregation during this transition in whatever ways are helpful and appropriate.

With blessings, sincerely, the Reverend Patrick David Price authors, and thinkers of color. Speak out when local government or law enforcement demonstrates a disregard for civil rights. Extend an invitation to community groups or leaders for celebrations and social occasions, not just as a reaction to tragedy. Wear your pins, shirts, and wristbands that tell others you believe that Black Lives Matter. Volunteer on one of our many projects or committees that help folks as close by as Plano, or as far away as New Orleans.

If you'd like to get connected to these efforts at CUUC, please contact the Social Action Committee at uusination@communityuuchurch.org, or speak with Linda Frank or Nelah McComsey.

Presidents Column

All of us are sad that our long time minister is leaving. Partings are times of deep sorrow and grief. We are sad for all the possibilities that now will not be fulfilled. We are sad that soon we will not see Reverend Price and Reverend Innis each Sunday at church. Please use the next few months to thank Patrick and Jennifer for their service to Community UU. Let them know that you appreciate them and their contributions to make this church successful. Wish them safe journey to their new ministries.

As Reverend Price reminded us in his homily on February 11, times of change and transition give us the opportunity for transformation.

The Southern Region of the UUA will guide us through the transition. It is up to us to make this also a transformation.

Let us use this time to recommit ourselves to our UU Principles. Let us give ourselves whole heartedly to the work of liberal religion in this community, in our country and in the world. The good news of Unitarian Universalism is sorely needed now.

What will you do to transform our church? What will you do to help build the beloved community that the world needs and we are all seeking?

Blessings, Sarah

An elderly widower who has lived through three wars and fought in two of them, the captain enjoys his rootless, solitary existence. In Wichita Falls, he is offered a $50 gold piece to deliver a young orphan to her relatives in San Antonio. Four years earlier, a band of Kiowa raiders killed Johanna's parents and sister; sparing the little girl, they raised her as one of their own. Exquisitely rendered and morally complex, News of the World is a brilliant work of historical fiction that explores the boundaries of family, responsibility, honor, and trust.* Amazon.

What's New in the Community Garden?

At the garden, we honor Mother Earth with our gratitude for nature's often surprising bounty and for the generosity of our donors. A special thank you to our congregation for your kind donations from the "Share the Plate" initiative. We also thank Nelah McComsey for the tumbling composter, Brenda for the shepherd's bin and all our hard-working gardeners for their time and efforts given on our designated "work" days. Sharing the work with our fellow gardeners is productive and fun!

March is a time of quiet activity in our garden plots. Did you know there are more microbes in a teaspoon of soil than there are people on the earth? And they are very busy digesting and providing nutrients for our plants. As the spring planting season heats up, check the planting guide on our website to best determine the dates for your favorite vegetables. www.communityharvestgarden.org We are always eager to accept home grown vegetables at our Saturday morning harvest, which we deliver to area food banks.

For more information about our garden, contact Deb Bliss at harvest@communityuuchurch.org.

Hunger Initiative

God's Pantry experienced a growth of 51% overall clients in 2017. The increase was partially due to the refugees from the Houston flooding, but also from the growth in the overall population of the Plano area. Thankfully donations of food have also increased. Recently two major large grocery stores have begun donations and they are much appreciated. Cash donations have been down overall since some organizations diverted their donations to the Houston effort. As always, the Pantry is rich in much appreciated hard working volunteers.

Help Save a Life Anywhere

CPR, AED (automated external defibrillator), Stop the bleed Training. Capt. Peggy Harrell of the Plano Fire Dept. will teach a free seminar on April 7, 2018 at 10:30am in our Sanctuary which lasts about one hour. This is not certification, but familiarization. Age 13 years plus. Childcare will be provided. Contact Mike Robinson for reservations and childcare before March 29.

Elevator Speech Class

What is Unitarian Universalism? What do UUs believe? These are not the easiest questions. Please join us on March 11th & 18th at 12:15pm for a two part class, as we explore how to answer these questions accurately and efficiently in a personalized "Elevator Speech". Please RSVP to Cindy Pilcher at mc@communityuuchurch.org. Hope to see you there!

Seeking Teachers and Helpers in Religious Education

Watching the Spirit Play class for Kindergarten and Grade 1 reminded me of how children can be both engaged and peaceful. They listened to the story, were curious about the pieces used, and then worked independently for the rest of class. One of the best ways to create such moments is prepared leadership from teachers and other volunteers. Would you be part of creating these moments? I seek to expand the pool of people who not only can be in the rooms, but can be on the schedule ahead of time. I will be asking individual members and friends to assist in the classes. Feel free to find me first if you would like to know more. See Rev. Jennifer Innis, Interim Director of Religious Education, 972-639-7900.

On the Journey

At this point, I hope that you have heard about Rev. Price’s resignation as shared with the congregation by mail and during worship on February 11. I will complete my one-year contract with you at the end of July as well. Our last official day will be July 31, 2018. The Board is preparing to bring in an interim minister. The Religious Education Board is putting together a job description for an interim director of religious education.

While the volunteer leadership prepares to welcome new professionals, my responsibilities include managing the current program for children and youth, helping the congregation be aware of how the transitions in professional leaders are an expression of and have an impact on the current church programs, and saying goodbye well. Due to the usual cycles of congregational life, much of my work with you will be completed by mid-June. These next few months always go faster than expected in my experience. If you would like to visit with me, ask about children and youth religious education, or volunteer your services, please find me as soon as possible. There will be more notes about the transitions in the upcoming months.

Part of the church’s work this year is to renew its attention with Safe Congregation practices. Safe Congregations refers to topics from volunteer and staff background checks, to building security, to mandated reporting of abuse, and more. Our efforts in this area and in understanding the emotional toll on all of us is further inspired by the deadly school shooting in Parkland, Florida and is all the more tragic and traumatic. The Safe Congregation Team will have a more detailed article next month. For now, please feel free to inquire of Safe Congregation efforts. The current team is Sarah Reiling, Brennan Hadden, Sandy Farlow, the Committee on Ministry, Jodie Zoeller Bloom, Mike Robinson, Rev. Patrick Price, and me.

In watching the news related to the shooting and the student efforts towards gun control, what can we do for ourselves and for our children when faced with terrible loss?

Respond to your child's questions with reassurance.

Keep the information you share simple and on the child's developmental level.

Turn the television off.

Take care of yourself.

Remind yourself and your family of the many positives in the world - the good things in this life help buffer us against the difficult times. Children do not have as many buffers as we adults do and it is imperative that we help them develop this essential skill against being overwhelmed by darkness and fear.

Bowing to the Light Within,
Jennifer

January Financial Report

Finance Report by Cindy Hadden Treasurer

The January financial summary for our operating accounts is listed below. The cumulative Net Income gap has gone down to $18k, still above budget. As predicted, current year pledged offering has gone down (-$7.8) after the 1st of the year, a trend I expect to continue for the rest of the fiscal year. Expenses are still coming in right around budget. If things keep going as well as they have been, we might have a chance of ending this fiscal year in the black, but it is still very much a moving target.

The land sale has been finalized as of January 31st, and the proceeds will be used to pay off the internal loans, as was agreed upon during the congregational meeting.

Looking ahead: It is that time of year again. Soon we will start our stewardship drive. Next year will be an interesting year, with several uncertainties facing us. Putting the budget together will be more challenging, and we will need your help to make it work.
